

Memorial Services Are Held

Departed members of Delnora Camp, Royal Neighbors of Lomita were honored at memorial services at the Lomita Presbyterian church social hall Wednesday night.

The program opened with a solo, "The Lord's Prayer," by Winifred Brase. Members also taking part in the program were Louise Andrews, Cecil Goheen, Estelle Roberts, Ruth Morris, Rose Dreyer, Elizabeth Hunt, Betty Winsteer, Carol Erickson, Gertrude Scheiber, Jennie Odmark, Irene McPeak, Margaret Spencer and Tirzah Tabor.

Highlight of the service was a scene in which Agnes Leopold sang "The Old Rugged Cross." As the lights dimmed white-robed members formed in the background. Madeline and Yvonne LePont appeared as angels and Hulda Anderson placed on a cross a daisy for each deceased member. "Going Home," sung by Winifred Brase and Rowena Airey, concluded the program.

Tirzah Tabor, Pat McBride and Rowena Airey reported a visit to Ward C5 at Harbor General hospital where women patients have been adopted by the Lomita group.

Birthdays of the following members were honored: Dorothy Rich, Grace Morginson, Elizabeth Hunt, Nellie Taylor, Sarah Luce, Agnes Leopold, Ethel Erickson and Janese Herren.

Home-coming of all members, past or present, will be observed by the lodge at the next meeting, June 28. Stations will be filled by past oracles and a good time is planned.

MR. AND MRS. ARTHUR A. LONG

Long-Faren Vows Said at Episcopal Church

Sr. Andrew's Episcopal Church was the setting for the impressive evening service in which Miss Geraldine Faren, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Faren of 1562 W. 216th street, exchanged wedding vows with Mr. Arthur A. Long, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earle B. Long, of Lomita.

Rev. C. Lee Mills of Redondo Beach officiated in the presence of 180 wedding guests.

Given in marriage by her father, the lovely bride was attractively attired in an ankle-length gown of lace-trimmed white French pique, with a detachable lace edged cape. Nylon net veiling and lilies of the valley trimmed her hat, fashioned of pique and she carried white roses.

Miss Joyce O'Brien of San Pedro and formerly of Torrance, was maid of honor in blue French pique similar in style to the bride's dress. Her accessories were white and her flowers were yellow roses.

Bradford Boyd of Lomita was the bridegroom's best man and ushers were James Lewis of Harbor City and Lowell Beckman of Lomita.

At the reception in Parish House, which immediately followed the church ceremony, a tiered wedding cake encircled with gardenias was cut by Miss Carlotta Dean and Mrs. Don Solburg, of Manhattan Beach.

Miss Diane Shrewsbury of Long Beach presided over the guest book.

Mrs. Faren received in electric blue crepe with black accessories with an orchid corsage. Mrs. Long attended in gray crepe with coral and black accessories and she also wore an orchid corsage.

Later family members and intimate friends attended a buffet patio dinner at the home of the bride's parents. The new Mrs. Long then changed to a brown going away suit with white accessories with which she wore a detachable corsage from her bridal bouquet and the happy couple left for their honeymoon at Monterey and Carmel-by-the-Sea. They will establish their home in Ventura where he is employed in the field store of National Supply Company.

The bride was graduated from Torrance High School with the class of summer '46 and attended El Camino Junior College as a music major. Mr. Long received his diploma from Narbonne High School in June '45 and later served overseas with the United States Navy.

Gladiolus Show Opens in Pasadena

This week-end the flower lovers of Southern California have their eyes focused on Brookside Park, Pasadena, where the Southern California Gladiolus Society presents its Third Annual Gladiolus Exhibition, opening to the public at 2 p.m., Saturday, and closing at 9 p.m. Sunday evening.

Commercial growers exhibits, single and three spike specimen entries, basket and vase classes, and a splendid showing of beautiful artistic arrangements will tax the capacity of the spacious buildings of the Fannie E. Morrison Horticultural Center.

Directors of the exhibition do not hesitate to say that they expect this show to be the finest gladiolus exhibition ever held on the West Coast, and one of the best in the United States and Canada this year; a show definitely worth any effort made to see it.

The Jacaranda Tree by H. E. Bates is the story of eleven strangely assorted people who fled from the Burmese village of the Jacaranda Tree, when terror and the Japanese moved in on the land. What they did in this hour of stress makes a novel of extraordinary brilliance and power. Along the road they traveled we see emotional entanglements, passion that bursts the bonds of civilization, quiet courage and selfish cowardice; physical hardships and spiritual developments.

Home of the Hermitage by Alfred Crabb. This story of Andrew and Rachel Jackson and their beautiful haven—The Hermitage—brings to light a little known aspect of Jackson's life. The Nashville plantation is the scene of his return from political and military defeat and glory and of his final farewell as he leaves for Washington and the Presidency.

Whistle, Daughter, Whistle by Herbert Best. After the Revolutionary War Grandma Tuttle became the talk of the Lake Champlain country? She kidnaps a stagecoach from in front of the village tavern, rescues her granddaughter from her angry family, saves a sailor, gets drunk, defies the town supervisor by managing the tavern and has a high old time in general.

And Then You Came by Ann Bridges. Here is a novel of the legend-haunted Highlands whose inhabitants are Celtic. The Celts have lived with ancient and unforgettable things and nothing

Sorority Sets Party Arrangements

Discussion of plans for a brick pit party set for Saturday evening occupied the group. Pinchits play concluded the evening with Marcella Smith and Helen Smith as prizewinners.

On Monday evening the same group held a business meeting at Rosemary Pryor's home when arrangements for the party were completed. A letter adjournment 500 was played with Kay Shelton and Martha Coburn as prizewinners.

seems really strange in that lovely Scottish country where the holly, the red and yellow apples and the golden eagles recall a romantic antiquity. It is a most unusual story, redolent of Highland atmosphere and readers who enjoy fantasy will succumb to its magic.

The Gold Coast by Philip Rooney tells the story of a galley built and rigged in Dublin shipyards which sailed for the Levant and mysteriously vanished. Five years later it returned as mysteriously as it disappeared. Philip Rooney's account of those five years and the happenings of the good ship Ozel form a dramatic tale of storms at sea, pressed men, separate combat and slavery on the Barbary coast. It is a tale of the sort that Stevenson might have written and according to one New York critic "History seldom comes as pleasantly as it does in this novel of seafaring at the end of the seventeenth century."

Jones-Kelton Reveal Troth

Mr. and Mrs. Shird D. Kelton of 918 Portola avenue, announce the engagement of their daughter Gloria Marie to Private First Class Robert W. Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Bevington, formerly of 3647 Garret street.

Marie is completing a P.B.X. Operator course at Metropolitan Business School, while her fiancé is serving three years with the United States Air Force. He is now stationed at Castle Air Force Base, Merced.

The young couple are planning an early August wedding.

A luncheon and card party have been set for 12:30 today by St. Catherine of LaBoure parish at Redondo Beach boulevard. Everyone is invited to attend the benefit affair.

Comprehensive da Vinci Exhibition Now On View

If the problem of fuel for mechanical power had been solved in the fifteenth century, Leonardo da Vinci, the great painter and inventor of the Renaissance might have given the world the automobile, the airplane and many other present day machines almost five hundred years before they were developed for mankind's use.

As it is, there is hardly a machine in existence today which he did not foresee, although not always in its modern, perfected form.

Sixty-six mechanical and technological discoveries of Leonardo translated into actual models from his original designs are among the highlights of the comprehensive da Vinci exhibition now on view at the Los Angeles County Museum through July 17. These models, especially constructed for this exhibition, fill two galleries and a hall. Two additional galleries show the development of his art in his various periods, and one large gallery is devoted entirely to works by him, his studio, pupils and followers, presenting a complete picture of Leonardo's influence through the sixteenth century, not only in Italy, but in Flanders and France.

Scientist and experimenter as well as artist, Leonardo designed several flying machines, a parachute, an aerial screw which is credited as being the forerunner of the modern propeller, and devices for measuring wind velocity and humidity. The painting press he invented does not differ greatly from the old Washington hand press in general use in most country newspaper offices up to as late as fifty years ago.
